

Mizuirokodomo

Colour of water awakens me
I close my eyes like a flower
Waiting for the wind
Waiting for the wind

Shaken and swept away
By your sunset-coloured eyes
I can't hear anything anymore
And just looking at the wind

The ripples of fame
Shaking the world over and over again
All of my memories
Melt away and disappear

You whisper to me
With seven-coloured breath
I become warm, sleepy and silent

The moon laughs
The stars sing
The sky is so wide
That it scares me a little

When I'm with you
I'm just,
I become just a child

The wind meets my eyes
She talks to me
'Hello, how are you?
We've met before, haven't we?'

A light rushes through
At that moment,

The darkness bursts
Holding our hands together
Looking up at the night sky
There's a great flower of light
Blooming in the night sky

Swaying, swaying, swaying, swaying
